UW Linguistics will be well-represented at the 2016 annual meeting of the Linguistics Society of America, being held January 7 to 10 at the Marriott Marquis in Washington DC. Ellen Kaisse, Barbara Citko, Toshiyuki Ogihara, and Akira Omaki will take part in the conference, along with lecturer Emily Curtis and graduate students Amie De Jong, Alli Germain, Esther le Grezause, Katie Manlove, and Sarala Puthuval (presenting with Linguistics alumnus Dan McCloy).

You can find more information about the conference at the LSA 2016 Annual Meeting website here.

People Involved: Barbara Citko, Toshiyuki Ogihara, Allison Germain, Katie Manlove (Langr), Sarala Puthuval, Amie Delong, Esther Le Grezause, Dan McCloy, Ellen Kaisse, Akira Omaki

News Category: Faculty and Staff, Student Success

Source URL: https://linguistics.washington.edu/news/2016/01/06/uw-linguistics-graduate-students-and-faculty-participate-lsa-annual-meeting